

Kneipp's Apotheca's Herbal Surprises

Dr. Sussanna Czeranko

God's Gifts

“How good is God! Oh, that we could recognize it! Let us search for the little herbs, which announce themselves by the smelling bottles attached to them by the Creator, the aromatic wholesome scent; and let us, when gathering them, glorify with filial gratitude our infinitely loving Father, who is in Heaven.”

Father Sebastian Kneipp

Kneipp, S., (1896). The Kneipp Cure. The Kneipp Cure Publishing Company, New York, p. 150.

Kneipp's Herbals

- No proprietary secrets
 - “Among all the things which I abhor and hate, the proprietary drugs, the trading with remedies which are kept as a secret by their inventors.”
Kneipp, 1896, 148
- All from God's gardens
- Herbs were free for the picking
- Kneipp wanted the poor to have access to healing herbs

Kneipp, S., (1896). The Kneipp Cure. The Kneipp Cure Publishing Company, New York, p. 148.

Kneipp's Triple Aim

Cold water applications and herbs have the aim:

1. To dissolve waste products or morbid matter
2. To evacuate the morbid matter
3. To strengthen the body.

Knieguß mit dem Schlauch; Stand oberhalb der Kniescheibe

Water vs Herbs

- Used herbs when patients had “unconquerable fear of water”
- Herbs did not equal the efficacy of water applications
- Herbs chosen by Kneipp had same therapeutic goals as hydrotherapy

Das Halbbad
